This facility is actually two feed mills within one large structure, featuring both a continuous "in-line" blend system and a large batch/dual mixing operation with a unique micro-ingredient additive system. Also included are a large pellet line, dual steam flaking lines, dual automatic bag lines, dual grinding operations, dry rolling, bulk truck loadout, and truck and rail receiving.

The project, which was constructed on a cramped site within the Denver city limits, was designed to successfully comply with extensive code requirements.
